Four rehired Lyons-Ryan fires entire sales force

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Lyons and Ryan Ford-Mercury car dealership on Rte. 173, is not a complete stranger to employee dissension, having endured a mechanics strike that lasted several years.

Area residents got so used to seeing the pickets and the posters that marched back and forth in front of the car showroom for years, that most people didn't even realize when the strike was settled because those marching signs had become part of the landscape.

Now some dissatisfaction is being showed by part of the sales force, or as the situation stands presently, part of the former sales force.

According to Gerry Haley, Lyons-Ryan salesman for over six years, each salesman had been invited to a meeting by Pat Ryan, owner, "to settle gripes and straighten some problems out."

"We were told that nothing we would say at the meeting would be held against us, but after the talks had been going on for about two hours, Ryan stood-up a fired all of us," Haley said.

"He did say that we could negotiate with him individually as he left," Haley added.

"Some of the newer people asked for their jobs back and that's who is on the floor now," said Haley, adding that a group of the salesman were talking to a lawyer about unfair business practices and the lawyer had advised them not to talk with Ryan individually.

Pat Ryan confirmed that he had fired the entire sales force at said meeting.

"I called the meeting to straighten out certain attitudes with the purpose of having a partial sales team, no sales team or a full sales team when it was over," said Ryan.

"As the meeting progressed, what was being said told me we did not have the makings of a professional sales team," Ryan said.

Ryan added that five of the 11 salesmen fired came to him asking for their jobs back, four were rehired, one was not.

"I am now in the process of hiring more salesmen," Ryan said, describing the situation at the dealership at press time.

Haley reported that Ray Anderson, who had been at the dealership for over 20 years had a heart attack after the firing and was recuperating in the hospital.

Another salesman that was fired had been with Ryan for 12 years.

As far as the other salesmen are concerned, a meeting with legal counsel is reportedly in the offing.

Megalopolis not now

Growth possibility differs in amounts

by GLORIA DAVIS

It has long been rumored that Antioch will someday grow almost to city proportions.

In 1933, the Antioch News carried a prediction that in just a little over 25 years (1958) Antioch would be part of the city of Chicago and have a population of 50,000 people.

Since the boom of the 60's and 70's there also has been stronger talk about the expected growth of the area between Chicago and Milwaukee, with words like megalopolis flying around.

Ever since Antioch started to rise out of the recession of 1980-81 and 82, more rumors have been circulated, late ones optimistically predicting Antioch's growth to match some of the near-north suburbs like Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights and Schaumburg.

All this is reportedly to take place within the next five years, give or take a year or two.

In checking with the people in the village that should be in the "know" about these kinds of things, we found agreement on the growth possibilities and potential, but doubt as to a great immediate population influx.

Allegedly, there are many secret demographic surveys to back up the fast growth predictions.

According to Andrew Bernhardt, president of the State Bank of Antioch, "Sufficient growth in Antioch would not surprise me at all because of the speed with which Chicago is growing outwardly."

"All those office buildings that are springing-up on the tollroad have white collar workers working in them and as they head our way living in the lakes' area will be and is becoming more attractive," he added.

"The bank has been handling many home improvement loans that were used to renovate summer cottages into full-time residences.

As to the possibility of several housing developments being built in the area, Bernhardt said, "We have an awful lot of platted acreage in the area which would prove to be ideal for building subdivisions.

But he added that he had nothing financially concrete to support these statements.

Another factor contributing to the growth rumors is the latest news about the proposed plan for a commuter railroad to be operated on the Soo Line tracks between freight trains, to run to Chicago from several Lake County municipalities, one of those mentioned being Antioch.

This plan, hardly taking form on the drawing boards, was just released as part of the long-range plans of the North Suburban Mass Transit Dist. (NORTAN).

Reportedly, Antioch Mayor Ray Toft has been working on this plan with NORTAN during the last year.

Ted Axton, the comparatively new president of the First National Bank, agreed that he expected growth but said, "good, healthy, manageable, steady growth," (Continued on Page 5)

Best ACHS athletes get awards at banquet

The Antioch Lions Club sponsored the Antioch Community High School Athletic Banquet for the 43rd time, on Wednesday, May 30. The event was held in the school cafeteria with over 200 senior athletes, cheerleaders, pom-pom, color guard, individual state qualifiers, most valuable athletes in each sport and their parents.

The athletes, coaches and sponsors were guests of the local club in which special recognition was given to the athletes for their many accomplishments.

Dennis Green, varsity football coach from Northwestern University, was the guest speaker. The former Iowa great stressed the importance of setting goals and in meeting responsibilities as young adults since the young people present are at a point in their lives where they can no longer depend on their parents to meet obligations.

Lion Jeff Mulder handled the toastmaster duties for the evening. President Paul Maginot welcomed the athletes and guests. Senior Don Korjenek represented the athletes and gave the response to the welcome. Associate Pastor Don Erickson from the Antioch Evangelical Free Church gave the invocation.

Supt. Warren Polley gave a special thanks to the Lions Club and introduced the board members present. Principal Arthur Blecke was also introduced. Blecke commented briefly about the athletic program.

Special recognition was given to the individual state qualifiers: Gail Bernet, Carolyn Richter and Dawn Bissing in tennis; Calvin Knutsen and Andy Lehn in wrestling; Debbie Adams in the high jump, Bryan Becker 400 yard dash, and David Hart in the high jump.

President Maginot, with the assistance of Lion William Seemann, made the awards for the most valuable players.

Ward Lear, athletic director, indicated the accomplishments of the most valuable players and the senior nominees for outstanding senior athletes and cheerleader.

Couple wins Jaycee trip to Las Vegas

Toni and Roland Waspi of Lake Villa won a trip for two to Las Vegas at the Antioch Jaycees Las Vegas Night. Chairman Don Goodwin also announced that Dr. John Boarini won the second prize and elected to take the cash option of $200.

Second prize was donated by the State Bank of Antioch. Third prize of four dinners for two was won by Glenda Tomaschik. The dinners were donated by the Windjammer, Weasels, Sterbenz Lil' Acres, and Struggles. Goodwin also mentioned that the Jaycees were very gratified by the support they received from the community. He has taken note of the overly long raffle procedure and has already instituted plans to streamline it.

A reinstatement application from Carole Urbanski, sponsor Erna Toft, and a transfer-out from Mitzie Cermak to Palm Beach Garden Chapter in Florida were also read. A favorable ballot was returned by the Chapter.

During the Endowment Fund, Treasurer Marilyn Vynalek was on the receiving end of the famous "penny march."

Recorder Terry read the minutes of previous Chapter and Board of Officers meetings. Motion to adopt was made by Jerri Polson, seconded by Erna Toft and approved by the Chapter.

Senior Regent Mavis gave her reports on the annual Mother's Day Breakfast and the Bingo Kitchen Committee.

Other reports heard: Moosehaven Committee, Chairman Patti Noonan; Moosehart Committee, Chairman Rose Herkert, protem; Academy of Friendship Committee, Chairman Jerri Polson, protem.

When I think about it Where can I buy seeds to produce those evil roots?

by GLORIA DAVIS

Ever since man decided to do away with the barter system and unearth the "root of all evil," the monetary system has become the revolving spit upon which we either score a "well done" or get barbecued.

Just the fact that "The Wall Street Journal" is the world's best selling newspaper attests to man's (and woman's) all-consuming interest in the subject.

The big bank shakeup going on in the international financial world right now, and forebodings of darker days to come because of the expectations of foreign countries' not paying off their debts to U. S. banks, is causing everyone to have qualms about the safety of what's left after the bill collectors and Uncle Sam get done with their paychecks.

Having spent years trying to balance my checkbook just once, the whole financial operation will always remain a mystery to me.

All I know is that it's a teetertotter. When the stock market is up, the banks are paying low interest rates, and when the market is down, gold and etc. is usually the way to go.

The real moneymakers seem to be able to take advantage of that short interim while the teeter is tottering as they buy low and sell high.

I'm one of those ne'er do wells that is willing to pay any amount for something I really want, if I can possibly borrow from Peter to pay Paul to do it.

But when it comes to selling the same item, I find myself surprised anyone is willing to pay for one of my castaways, and usually end-up giving it away, if not paying people to cart it off.

Reams of wise statements have been made on the subject by more knowledgeable persons than I, so I'd like to quote just a few.

Margaret Case Harriman said "Money is what you'd get on beautifully without if only other people weren't so crazy about it."

According to Irene Peter, "Anyone who thinks that there is safety in numbers hasn't looked at the stock market pages."

Hobart Brown said, "Money doesn't always bring happiness. People with $10 million are no happier than people with $9 million."

I love the one by Frank McKinney Hubbard. "When a fellow says it's not the money but the principle of the thing, it's the money."

A quote from the Journeyman Barber Magazine wisely says, "One of the benefits of inflation is that kids can no longer get sick on a nickel's worth of candy."

Oscar Wilde hit the penny on it's Lincoln-head when he said, "When I was young I thought that money was the most important thing in life and now that I'm old, I know it is."

Edgar Wallace described the freedom that comes with beaucoup bucks when he said, "Only those who are rich can afford to look poor."

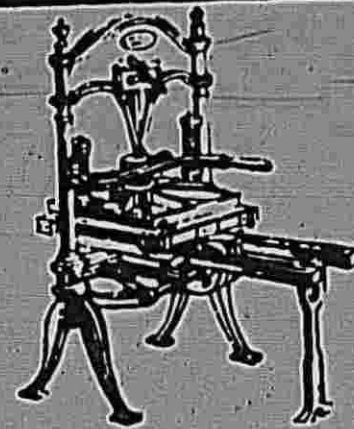

A sad testation to wealth was made by Ralph Waldo Emerson who made his feeling short and sweet with, "Money costs too much."

You know, the way some of these people talk, you might get the impression that it is impossible for a rich man to be happy unless he makes a happy poorer person unhappier than he is by giving him all his money!

Actually, whoever said "Money can't buy happiness, but rich misery is easier to take than poor misery," kind of caught my feelings in the matter.

Of course all of this doesn't solve the problem of where I should invest that extra $5 I find myself burdened with.

The heck with it all. I think I'll just buy myself a bannana split and call it a job well done.

Growth

Antioch Chamber of Commerce President Dom Marski said that he too has no concrete knowledge of any particular big growth factor, but added that since he took office in January, he has been greatly surprised by the large number of phone calls he receives asking for information about Antioch.

Michael Warren, Century 21 Real Estate, said that the rate of increase in real estate sales in the Antioch area since the first of the year, as far as his company is concerned, has been "way over my best expectations."

Warren said that from January to March his sales had increased over 1983 by 69 percent.

"We have been having at least 100 people looking for homes each month," he said.

When asked how this real estate boom will be effected if there is a substantial interest rate increase, as predicted by many economists, Warren answered, "We'll probably have to go back to some of that creative financing we used when the last interest raise came."

"I'm really looking forward to a continued strong real estate market in the near future," Warren concluded.

Ask Dr. Sven

by Robert T. Sven B.S.D.D.S.

DENTAL X-RAYS

Q. Are there different forms of X-ray used on teeth?

A. Dentists use two major types of X-rays to help diagnose the condition of patients' mouths. One is the panoramic or total X-ray, which captures the jaws and all the teeth in one exposure as an X-ray revolves around the patient.

The other X-ray method, preferred for diagnosing periodontal diseases, is called a periapical X-ray. This involves a series of pictures taken with small squares of film set into plastic holding devices. These are pressed against the individual teeth and held there as the patient bites the surface of the plastic holder. Mounted together, these individual X-rays give a clear, detailed picture of each tooth and its surrounding bone.

When I think about it Where can I buy seeds to produce those evil roots?

by GLORIA DAVIS

Ever since man decided to do away with the barter system and unearth the "root of all evil," the monetary system has become the revolving spit upon which we either score a "well done" or get barbecued.

Just the fact that "The Wall Street Journal" is the world's best selling newspaper attests to man's (and woman's) all-consuming interest in the subject.

The big bank shakeup going on in the international financial world right now, and forebodings of darker days to come because of the expectations of foreign countries' not paying off their debts to U. S. banks, is causing everyone to have qualms about the safety of what's left after the bill collectors and Uncle Sam get done with their paychecks.

Having spent years trying to balance my checkbook just once, the whole financial operation will always remain a mystery to me.

All I know is that it's a teetertotter. When the stock market is up, the banks are paying low interest rates, and when the market is down, gold and etc. is usually the way to go.

The real moneymakers seem to be able to take advantage of that short interim while the teeter is tottering as they buy low and sell high.

I'm one of those ne'er do wells that is willing to pay any amount for something I really want, if I can possibly borrow from Peter to pay Paul to do it.

But when it comes to selling the same item, I find myself surprised anyone is willing to pay for one of my castaways, and usually end-up giving it away, if not paying people to cart it off.

Reams of wise statements have been made on the subject by more knowledgeable persons than I, so I'd like to quote just a few.

Margaret Case Harriman said "Money is what you'd get on beautifully without if only other people weren't so crazy about it."

According to Irene Peter, "Anyone who thinks that there is safety in numbers hasn't looked at the stock market pages."

Hobart Brown said, "Money doesn't always bring happiness. People with $10 million are no happier than people with $9 million."

I love the one by Frank McKinney Hubbard. "When a fellow says it's not the money but the principle of the thing, it's the money."

A quote from the Journeyman Barber Magazine wisely says, "One of the benefits of inflation is that kids can no longer get sick on a nickel's worth of candy."

Oscar Wilde hit the penny on it's Lincoln-head when he said, "When I was young I thought that money was the most important thing in life and now that I'm old, I know it is."

A sad testation to wealth was made by Ralph Waldo Emerson who made his feeling short and sweet with, "Money costs too much."

You know, the way some of these people talk, you might get the impression that it is impossible for a rich man to be happy unless he makes a happy poorer person unhappier than he is by giving him all his money!

Actually, whoever said "Money can't buy happiness, but rich misery is easier to take than poor misery," kind of caught my feelings in the matter.

Of course all of this doesn't solve the problem of where I should invest that extra $5 I find myself burdened with.

The heck with it all, I think I'll just buy myself a bannana split and call it a job well done.

nothing immediately super fantastic.

Antioch Chamber of Commerce President Dom Marski said that he too has no concrete knowledge of any particular big growth factor, but added that since he took office in January, he has been greatly surprised by the large number of phone calls he receives asking for information about Antioch.

Michael Warren, Century 21 Real Estate, said that the rate of increase in real estate sales in the Antioch area since the first of the year, as far as his company is concerned, has been "way over my best expectations."

Warren said that from January to March

his sales had increased over 1983 by 69 percent.

"We have been having at least 100 people looking for homes each month," he said.

When asked how this real estate boom will be effected if there is a substantial interest rate increase, as predicted by many economists, Warren answered, "We'll probably have to go back to some of that creative financing we used when the last interest raise came."

"I'm really looking forward to a continued strong real estate market in the near future," Warren concluded.

The business meeting is followed by a program and concludes with a free raffle of gifts from community sponsors, social time and refreshments. The club invites anyone interested in becoming a member to attend a general meeting. For further information call Pat (312) 356-9416 or Joan (312) 356-7937.
